

INTERNSHIP EXPERIENCES

WARI BURANATHANANUN

ORGANIZATION: SCG PACKAGING

DEPARTMENT: ESG

POSITION: ESG OFFICER

At the first week, my senior was too busy to assign me any work, so I decide to asking her and other that are there any easy work I can help them because at this period my department is very busy to make the report done. So one of them handed me the translated works which I can learn the specific words used in ESG while working. After that P'Ta asked me and another intern to research on Diversity Supply Chain, Women Owned Business, and Conflict Minerals. I chose Women Owned Business and after that she asked me to present in the meeting with the department of supply chain and department of public renaissance (dealing with the government agency team). I received several compliments.

With this assignment I learn a lot not only the information but I learn the real working process in the big corporate and how they think and ask me after my presentation. I think this assignment is my first achievement here at SCGP. I am satisfied that everyone here listens to my opinion and they did not treat me as a student, but treated me as one employee. However, when they assign any work they will decide that it is too complicated for me to understand or not. Therefore I can learn new things and not put too much pressure on myself. Another satisfaction is that my senior invited me to join their Friday dinner with everyone so I feel that I am one of them in this department. Until now I have nothing to complain about, my working hours are very suitable, the environment is very comfortable, and there is no stress now. Only one thing that is very hard for me is that I often feel sleepy during working hours. I think listening to comedy podcasts can help me as I tried for 3 days and it works.
